PHILLIP H. KARDA

Back in the 1920's we wrote a parody to a high school song:

*"Close to the heart of the city
In the midst of its bustle and noise,
Serving the people who gave her
Stands Jan Hus and we are her boys;
We're proud of the service she's rendered,
We're proud of the part that is ours,
To add to her noble endeavor,
To strengthen her far-reaching power.
Here's to our dear old Pastor,
Here's to the workers dear,
Here's to our dear old members
Who strive throughout each year:
Here's to the clubs who labor
To make their names be known:
Here's to our dear old Jan Hus
The place we call our own."*

Now here's my parody for today:

*"Close to the heart of the city
In the midst of its bustle and woe,
Serving the people who attend her
Stands Jan Hus, saying: "Let's Go;"
Be proud of the service she's rendered.
Be proud of the part that is yours
To add to her noble endeavors,
To strengthen her "New" serving course.
May the "Way" be made clear to Pastor and dedicated helpers appear;
May today's members recapture
The founding members' zeal
And build upon what was "given" them
So future generations may still feel
Thankful to dear old Jan Hus
The Church we call our own."*
